

Disclosure_Release_4

17th July 2021

Copyright 2021 all rights reserved, Alex Light

www.wherethelightcomes.com

Total number of pages: 4

This letter has been prepared for free circulation and distribution amongst the community, as long as the document is not altered in any way.

Open Letter to Ashtar Sheran⁽¹⁾ (Galactic Administration)

Motivation – ‘Time has come’ (Code 45-70-027)

Dear Ashtar,

I would like to start by thanking you for providing information on the dark storm, well ahead of its manifestation. To know directly from you that “the storm is not normal” helps put in context what we have discovered so far. I think most of the planet senses this by now, at least at some inner level of awareness.

As you know, these have been interesting times down here. The so-called Covid-19 manifestation has killed millions of people, directly affected many additional millions, and caused unspeakable widespread mental suffering. Clearly, the ‘team of light’ had foreseen this, as we have proof of that. Allow me to express my gratitude to Lady Mary for her warning back in 2012. I also wanted to thank the great Brazilian medium Chico Xavier⁽²⁾ for warning us decades ago, and predicting the big shift with almost clockwork precision. I won’t go on thanking individual ‘light agents’ because this letter would become very long indeed!

The reason I’m writing now is because I believe that time might be finally approaching to activate a galactic introduction from your team, perhaps as an act of mercy. As you know, I have seen the end of the dark storm, and so have others. Amongst those who have seen it, we seem to agree that it’s going to be abrupt. What is most intriguing is that I have also seen that genuine spaceships from your team might be involved in the process. Isn’t that interesting? In any case, I felt that your team might appreciate a statement of support by us, your ground team, with some additional observations from our end.

According to certain observations by many on the battleground, if the storm is not brought to an abrupt end (as foreseen) there is a chance of grave planetary regression, possibly towards subjugation of freedom of thought in the entire western world. The learning of consent, and the balance of polarity, is now very evident on the physical plane. However, the stakeholders who oppose our right for a peaceful future at all costs have successfully galvanized fear and polarization as a weapon, to a remarkable extent. Somehow, this has also manifested as a kind of mental trance akin to hypnotic apathy. I personally have found this aspect the most mysterious part of the whole thing. But under this guise, these stakeholders would not hesitate to commit planetary scale genocide, always using people's fears as a weapon.

This condition of undue interference seems to have severely compromised science and governance globally. In concert with this, stakeholders are now deliberately trying to break humanity into two main groups, and force one against the other, so they can fight and self-destroy for the sake of the aforementioned dark agenda. While I acknowledge that it is positive that this battle is now explicit on the physical plane (where it can be more easily arrested), it is also our opinion down here that these dark stakeholders might have crossed the line. But I wonder – if this is the case, could this be used somehow in order to trigger some galactic response?

I might argue that if people were given a chance to see the truth about the ongoing dark manipulation, and to see that we are not alone, the majority would probably choose to support the 'galactics' (as we call you). We have known by communications from your team that you have been very hesitant to introduce yourselves openly. It is also relatively well known that you have used incredible restraint in regards to the ongoing aggression from our own military. I think many of us feel very ashamed that our governments have been so shortsighted and hostile, even though we concede that they were genuinely scared in the old days. But those days are well behind us now, and by this I mean, our governments know fully well that you are peaceful, even though they still refuse to tell us the truth.

No doubt, we want to avoid mass hysteria and additional fear if people have not yet raised their consciousness to where it needs to be. However, I take the liberty to make a small suggestion for your consideration, as follows. Imagine if the so-called Covid-19 manifestation were transmuted as to bring about an abrupt end to the pandemic: wouldn't the planet definitely sit in disbelief? The entire mental spectrum of the western world would suddenly focus on trying to find a reasonable scientific explanation for such a 'miracle'!

Imagine then that you might order your space fleet to make themselves visible simultaneously all over the planet say, about seven days, or perhaps a full lunar cycle immediately after the 'miracle' is given. Wouldn't it be evident to the entire planet that your team was behind it? By this token, the stakeholders who oppose a peaceful future, and who are plotting a so-called 'hoax alien attack' (on top of the current weapons that they are already using against us!) would have no chance of success.

People would see the truth and be educated about cosmic reality simultaneously, and this based on divine love and mercy. Humanity would then be able to finally decide, free from stakeholder manipulation, what kind of future they really want. Many of the thinkers of the race would then realize that your presence would imply answering what I believe might be the single most important question of our time: do we want peaceful galactic collaboration and healing, or endless disease and war?

The alleviation of pain and suffering would likely help transmute fear, and hopefully also bring about a state of mental sanity. Is this a too crazy plan? I have no doubt that your team has already thought of something way better than this, but I thought we down here could add this little suggestion anyway, at least based on what some of us have seen in our prophetic dreams of how this so-called 'not normal' storm might end. Perhaps we have a window of opportunity.

It's probably important to explain that this is not asking for a 'galactic tyranny', but simply stating that if there is any chance that you may be able to introduce yourselves now, as a peaceful galactic force, a good fraction of humanity will likely choose to be on the side of a future without wars, tyranny and hatred. I am sure that your team is very happy that there are groups on Earth who are already pursuing an ambassadorial capacity to promote a peaceful exchange between Earth humans and extraterrestrial civilizations. Could we not take advantage of this development? Are we really not yet ready for it, even after so many changes in the world, and so much work by many lightworkers towards this end?

I also note that such a 'galactic future' has been long overdue, as communicated by various groups since your arrival in July 1952. This is to say, with some humor, that I am not the one making this up! By the way, you did put on quite a display to Washington back in those days, and they got your message. And we are still alive and did not blow up the planet, which proves the point. How about we do it together this time, and let people of Earth decide which future they want free from manipulation?

There are many people awakening for the barbaric state of environmental damage that we have recklessly inflicted to our Mother planet. Here is another humble suggestion. If you come down and introduce your team, it will most likely be possible to assemble a large team of Earth people, who would very happily work together to restore a state of environmental equilibrium as quickly as possible. Perhaps I am naive, but would it not be a marvelous example of trust and collaboration for the greater good?

You might even be surprised that Earth humans are not as savage as some in the galaxy might think (fingers crossed, anyway!). The young generations in particular have demonstrated, through their so-called 'climate marches', that they are ready for this kind of work. I cannot speak for them, but I suspect they would find a lot of fun to have a life free from tyranny, and to be permitted to work together with your team for such a worthy cause.

I thank you on behalf of the human race for considering these suggestions, and perhaps even some inspiration, that might be contained in this letter. Please send my love to all our space brothers. We are one with them. And I have no doubt that there are many of us down here who would be absolutely delighted to meet them, and be allowed to initiate a productive joint work for our peaceful future.

When you next have a chance to communicate with me, please let me know if there is anything else we can possibly do down here, in addition to what we are already doing, to help bring this peaceful future of galactic cooperation into manifestation; And to see that rainbow at the end of the storm, and some of your people (not the fake ones!), around our beautiful skies.

As always, please receive my thanks in gratitude. May the supreme light and truth of the cosmos prevail on Earth, our beautiful Gaia.

My love,
Alex

Alex Light
17th July 2021
www.wherethelightcomes.com

A brief cosmic guide to extraterrestrial life disclosure in the emerging 5th dimension

(1) Ashtar Sheran is an advanced extraterrestrial and space fleet commander who arrived in the Solar System in July 1952 under galactic orders to stop Earth being destroyed by nuclear weapons. <https://wherethelightcomes.com/the-post-truth-era/#jp-carousel-916>

(2) Chico Xavier was a Brazilian medium who predicted a big planetary shift occurring after July 2019. This would have been designed to occur exactly 50 years after our landing on the moon, when we were warned that we would only be allowed to go into space when we learn to be a peaceful race. <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=4jxukHvGVzE&t=14s>